ACKLEN AND ROSSER.

BOTH PARTIES HEARD FROM ON THE SCANDAL.

The Young Member from Louisiana is Astonished--His Further Explanation of the Affairs--Rosser Denies the Authorship of the Story--He Refuses to be Interviewed.

Special Dispatch to The Washington Post.

NEW ORLEANS, La., June 24.—Mr. Jos. H. Acklen, Congressman of the Third Louisiana District, arrived in this city from Washington this morning. He said that he was never more surprised in his life than when on Sunday he saw a publication which contained his name with an alleged transaction in Washington which reflected upon him very seriously. He says that on Wednesday night last he was at the House of Representatives, and was not at any time during that night in the company of a lady. The previous Sunday or Monday night, however, he says that he took supper with a lady at Welcker's restaurant between 9 and 10 o'clock in the evening. In the room next to him there was a party of men who talked loudly and boisterously, and acted as if they were drinking freely. Gen. Rosser came to the room where Mr. Acklen was and spoke about the noisy party in the adjoining room. Gen. Rosser at the same time remonstrated the man annoyed by the noise, as he had a lady dining with him. Mr. Acklen says that was all that passed between him and Gen. Rosser. There was nothing said or done that indicated any unpleasantness. Mr. Acklen says he cannot understand how such a report as has been published in the newspapers could have got abroad. The lady whose name is thus unfortunately and unpleasantly brought into public notice, and her friends, will publish a card, so Mr. Acklen is informed, denying the story which has appeared in print. Mr. Acklen has also telegraphed his friends at Washington to counteract the unfortunate publication. In speaking of the matter Mr. Acklen says, that the lady in question is of such high social standing, of such purity of character, that no man would dream of approaching her improperly. The room where he was dining, he says, was an open one in a public locality, rendering it impossible for any one to so conduct himself as to make a scandal possible. Mr. Acklen says that he has not definitely determined whether he will return to Washington or not. His course will depend upon circumstances. He expects, of course, that General Rosser will make a statement.

By the Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, June 24.—Hon. J. H. Acklen, member of Congress from the Third District of Louisiana, has made the following statement: "The story that Gen. Rosser assaulted me in Welcker's restaurant because of an offence is indignity to a lady, is infamously false, and I cannot believe the story ever emanated from him. I left Washington on Tuesday evening, the 2d inst. The slander was published in the Washington Evening Star, on Friday, the 21st inst., and did not come to my knowledge until the next day. I was perfectly aware of Gen. Rosser's whereabouts. I promptly telegraphed to various parts to get his reputation of this assault. As yet I have failed to reach him, but an explicit denial has been made by competent parties in Washington. No effort will be spared to set the matter right, and, if necessary, I shall return at once to Washington for that purpose."

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 24.—Gen. J. L. Rosser arrived in this city Saturday, in performance of his duty as Chief Engineer of the Northern Pacific Railway, etc. He refused to be interviewed in relation to the Acklen affair. He leaves to-morrow on an engine trip to the Red River valley. Gen. Rosser distinctly stated that he made no mention of the affair to anybody, and would make none. It was strictly a private and personal matter. Publicity, he said, comes from some other quarter.

NARROW GAUGE.

The Railroad Roads for our Mountain Country.

Asheville Pioneer.

If the line west from this place is made a narrow-gauge, it will give a continuous line of over two hundred miles, with Asheville and Macon at each terminus, passing through the most mineral land on the continent. It will insure the completion of the road in a short time, and its transportation capacity will be sufficient to meet the demands of trade for the next fifty years. When the demand for increased facilities shall be required, we will then be able to either widen the gauge or build new lines. What we want now is a railroad to develop this mountain country, and a narrow-gauge will do it. We know it will require a struggle for some of our people to give up the broad gauge idea, but if the next generation will not see the "main-train," it is sometimes called completed, it is a narrow gauge or road on this mountainous and rocky road to come. The Georgia & North Carolina Road was only projected three years ago, and by 1880 it will be completed. If our Western people will only unite in favor of this change of gauge—and instruct their representatives in the Legislature to alter the charter in this respect—with the convict labor at the command of the corporation, the connection at Murphy can be made even before the main line to Paint Rock is completed.

Alexander County.

Democratic Convention at Taylorsville.

On motion of Mr. Linney, the members elected to the next Legislature from the county, are requested to use their utmost endeavors to promote a bill to alter this county for the purpose of which is directed to this place; and that they also use their influence to procure the passage of a general stock law for the State, similar to that of the county of Mecklenburg, with a provision for a submission of the question of its adoption or rejection to the several counties from time to time, on the application of the citizens thereof to the county authorities.

CALDWELL COUNTY.

A Standard Democracy—Col. Jones Nominated for the House—List of Splendid Candidates—Harmony in Banks—The Corps.

Correspondence of the News.

LENON, N. C., June 23, 1878.

The Democratic Convention assembled here to-day nominated, as the candidate for the Legislature, for this (Caldwell) county, Edmund Jones, Esq. Mr. Jones, although quite a young man, is well known throughout the State, having been in the Legislature several times before.

His Ancestry.

He comes from a long line of illustrious ancestry—three of same name—himself, his father and his grand father—having served the people many years in public capacity. The gentleman nominated to-day stands high, as a gifted and promising man. You can find him in the banks first and last. Judge Morris is one of many admirers in this country; but politically, just now, he has not many followers.

The other candidates for nomination, Mr. Jones' competitors in the race to-day, were numerous, and the balloting long—Dr. R. L. Bal, Dr. J. C. Newland, Mr. Joe M. Houk (late representative), Rev Isaac Oxford, Maj. G. W. F. Harper, J. N. Harshaw, Esq., and B. M. Tuttle, Esq., having all been balloted for. Dr. J. C. Newland was, in the opinion of many of the members of the Convention, at one time elected; but as there was some question about regarding "fractional balloting," the doctor declined pressing his claim, unless under the most undoubted circumstances. His graceful and honorable attitude in the matter has added to his popularity.

COUNTY OFFICERS.

The present incumbents of the county offices were re-nominated, except in the case of County Treasurer, Rev. G. D. Sherrill, was nominated for this place, Vice M. E. Shell.

HARMONIOUS AND SOLID CONVENTION.

The convention passed off with unusual satisfaction. It was remarked that in no previous convention ever held by the party here, was there more of the solid worth and talent of the county assembled for party purposes. This fact speaks well for the party and its interest. Of course there were some people present who went away disappointed—dissatisfied and full of denunciatory—They never were in favor of conventions, anyhow."

THE CROPS.

The wheat crop of this county is very nearly an average. The oats and potato crops are above average; and the increased yield of these two will in some measure repair the loss of a portion of the wheat by rust and otherwise. Corn is promising though small. There are but few apples, but the peach and berry prospect is simply enormous.

Railroad Meeting in Statesville.

Statesville Landmark.

The meeting of Statesville had a meeting at the Court House, on Friday, for the purpose of considering the prospects of building the proposed Dan River and Coal Field Railroad, from Danville, Va., to Statesville. The meeting was organized by calling Mr. J. B. Connally of the club, and requesting J. S. Webb to act as chairman. The object of the meeting was explained by the Chairman, Col. R. F. Armfield and Mr. E. B. Drake also made remarks explaining the object of the meeting, and urging the importance of the enterprise.

Col. R. F. Armfield offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the chairman of this meeting appoint a committee consisting of E. B. Drake, C. A. Carlton and W. A. Eliason, to prepare for publication, together with the original charters and amendment of the Dan River and Coal Field Railroad, and the acts of subscription and a report of organization, in favor of a Broad Gauge Railroad from Statesville to Danville.

On motion of David Wallace, Esq., a committee of ten was appointed to solicit subscriptions for shares. The following gentlemen were appointed: David Wallace, C. A. Carlton, E. B. Drake, J. S. Miller, S. A. Sharpe, Alfred Turner, J. A. Allison, A. F. Gilmer, T. N. Cooper and G. F. Shepherd.

The following resolution was offered by Mr. P. G. Carlton, and after some discussion adopted:

Resolved, That the Chairman of this meeting appoint a committee of three to take all the necessary steps to submit the question to the qualified voters of the town of Statesville, of a subscription of $50,000. to the Dan River and Coal Field Company, if said committee, on consultation, deem it advisable; and that the same committee be requested to correspond with the proper officers of the B. & O. R. R. Co., for the purpose of securing their aid and assistance in the construction of the said D. R. & C. F. R. R.

Messrs. W. A. Eliason, P. C. Carlton, and Dr. H. K. Kelly were appointed to compose the committee.

J. S. RAMSEY, Chairman, Secretary.

A Narrow Gauge.

Sury Visitor.

Perhaps some of our readers are not aware of the fact that there is now a railroad in successful operation between North Brierley and Bedford, Massachusetts, a distance of eight and a half miles, the gauge or which is only ten inches wide. The engine and cars are proportionate with the width of the track. The passenger cars have an aisle in them and a seat on each side instead of two seats as a full sized car. There are thirty seats in each car, and the train runs 12 miles an hour, one grade on the line being 15 feet to the mile. The trains consist of one passenger and two freight cars and an engine. The cars are engine have air brakes and all the modern improvements. Ordinary cars weigh four times as much as these little couches. The cost of a road of this kind is about 4,500 per mile, and the running expenses are stated to be only about one-fourth those of the ordinary trains.

The first number of the Iredell Gazette, published by Messrs. E. H. McLaughlin and J. B. Clark, at Mooreville, is before us. The Gazette is well gotten up and worthy of liberal patronage. We welcome the editors into the field of journalism, and wish the enterprise success.

The grading of the Chester & Lenoir Narrow Gauge Railroad has been completed to within a hundred yards of Newton.

THE GREENSBORO BANK FAILURE.

A Standard Democracy—Col. Jones Nominated for the House—List of Splendid Candidates—Harmony in Banks—The Corps.

Correspondence of the News.

GREENSBORO, June 26.

In response to your telegram of last night, relative to the assignment of Wilson & Shober, bankers and manufacturers, I learn it is caused by heavy burdens they carry on various pieces of real estate, out of which they cannot recover money, under the pressure of time.

SOME OF THEIR INVESTMENTS.

They have a large amount invested in the Methodist College of Greensboro, said to be $38,000 with interest; also in McMahan's spoke and handle factory, and some $25,000 in a spoke and handle factory and saw mill of their own here. These factories were stopped yesterday and are running again to-day.

RISKS AND LIABILITIES.

They also have large risks in a great deal of real estate, too tedious to mention, and their liabilities are estimated at $100,000. This seems to be about the nearest estimate now to be had, and I learn further that they have surrendered the whole of their property to trustees, for the benefit of their creditors, and their personal property. This indicates a purpose on their part to pay every dollar possible, and I have not heard of even a suspicion of fraud.

MEETING OF CREDITORS.

I learn that a meeting of creditors will be called in a few days, when their facts will be learned, when they are admitted into the school. This indicates a purpose on their part to pay every dollar possible, and I have not heard of even a suspicion of fraud.

DRY WEATHER.

The weather in this section is very dry, indeed, and vegetation is badly withered and dead.

PLUS.

Mt. Airy Railroad.

Letter in Sury Visitor.

"Tit for tat"—turn about is fair play—are old sayings. Interest enters into the calculation of all mankind in a varying degree. States and legislators must order their actions for the good of States individually. We, as North Carolinians, must, or should, look to the best interests of North Carolina. All the other States pursue such a course, in respect to themselves, and in the same manner as individuals, are controlled in their actions by a certain degree of selfishness. It is necessary. Self preservation is the first law of nature. Thus thrifty, prosperous, and happy communities of States, as of the United States, are formed. Let each State take care of herself, and then let each State help to build a State railroad, which should damage the business of a railroad of any adjacent State, or diminish the trade of a city or town of a neighboring State—all right—back. If the railroad from Fayetteville to Mt. Airy should diminish, to any extent, the local freights of the Virginia and Tennessee railroad, (which may exist itself to sustain and develop this freight traffic, by building a road from Wytheville to this locality.) if the tobacco trade of certain sections of the Western back country, which now finds its market at Danville, should be directed to Mt. Airy, so let it be, let Danville look to her interests and extend a narrow-gauge railroad into this charming and enterprising section and get it back. The hard working farmers will be benefited by the rivalry of towns and corporations. Indeed the latter city is anticipating the blow on the principle of the story of the little boy who told his daddy to "tell the man, with whom he was quarreling, a liar, first, or else he would call him one."

The policy of our State to utilize the convict labor, by developing her material interests, as advocated by some thoughtful editors, is surely and firmly taking hold of the minds of her intelligent citizens, who are imbued with a laudable amount of State pride and enterprise.

THE KIDS.

Miss Cox still continues to attract large crowds and is getting deeply engrossed in her work. I will visit the Kindergarten which she has established and will advise your readers on that point. Miss Cox is very kind to the ubiquitous press," and I am under obligation to her for various favors.

PERSONAL.

Gen. Thos. L. Clingman will speak to-morrow at 12 noon.

Hon. Paul C. Cameron is here enjoying the Kindergarten, Shakespeare, &c., Prof. S. Webb, of Tennessee, arrived to-day.

Miss Eliza Pool, of Oxford, is a number one Kindergartenist. F. D. W.

Correspondence of the News.

CHARLOTTE, June 25.

Business here, as elsewhere, is dull. The county Democratic candidate will most likely have no opposition at all, and hence will have but little excitement during the campaign. Governor Vance and his wife have arrived in the city, and after resting awhile, we learn they will go up about Morganton and extend a narrow-gauge railroad into this charming and enterprising section and get it back. The hard working farmers will be benefited by the rivalry of towns and corporations. Indeed the latter city is anticipating the blow on the principle of the story of the little boy who told his daddy to "tell the man, with whom he was quarreling, a liar, first, or else he would call him one."

This analysis shows that the water resembles in its medicinal properties the water of life, when John S. Park has a Mineral Spring near Pelham in this county, equal to any mineral water on earth for curative properties and is unsurpassed as a tonic? This spring is now fixed up elegantly for the reception of guests, and we have before us a number of certificates from Drs. Ross, Bracken and others testifying to the medical qualities of the water. The Daily Observer has the advantage of the N. C. Railroad, notwithstanding this, I find the Raleigh News popular all through this section. I am stopping at the Central Hotel, the best hotel in the State. Mr. Eccles, its popular landlord and proprietor, is a charming host. Davidson College Commencement takes place to-morrow and next day, and many visitors are here en route for that place. You shall hear from us there.

Go to Park's Spring, and if that doesn't cure you, you needn't try any other mineral water. Sold in Danville at 25 cents a gallon.

THE GOOD AND THE BAD.

Milton Chronicle.

There is a thousand times more good than bad in the world. To-day the newspapers are engaged in finding out all the mean goods that are done in the world. Few good deeds are trumpeted—the bad mostly are heralded. The world is full of the reports of all the bad things that are done in the world. The newspapers will look through all the houses of the country and find the names of some who had practiced self-denial for the sake of wife and children—find some who had given up all the property he had to pay his honest debts—who had gone out of his house, given up his pictures, and all there was of luxury, and taken his wife by her hand and led her down to poverty and penury in a hut—if they would tell the names of all the men who had done generous deeds, the papers would be crowded with the names of both men and women who had escaped.

THE UNIVERSITY NORMAL SCHOOL.

Cause and Extent of the Failure—Assets Probably Above Liabilities.

CHAPEL HILL, June 24.

The work of the last Normal School was felt in the State. The fact that teachers have assembled here this session from nearly every county in the State is an evidence that there soon to be a decided revolution in the plan of instruction now pursued by the teachers of our Public Schools. And well there may be. There is one thing the press of the State should do. They are devoting brain and labor discussing the propriety of pledging the school to the Legislature. Any sensible man will say, they ought to be pledged. But in what way? People of North Carolina have a right to demand pledges of their candidate. One pledge is this. Will you go to Raleigh and labor earnestly for improvement of the educational system of this State? Will you endeavor to get better schools, school houses, longer terms of instruction, compulsory education, good teachers? If so we will support you. That is the straight-forward way. EVERYTHING is not lovely in the Granville radical camp. The party seems to be factioned in that portion of its moral vineyard. The colored people, in large numbers, are disgusted. The darkey has been foisted about "as long as he's a gwyne to be."

JAMES Q. WILLIAMS, Esq., one of the most popular gentlemen in Wake, Democratic nominee for Superior Court Clerk, was in the News office yesterday. He is a hard working farmer and brings a good report of the crops from his section. He also brings an encouraging report as to the outlook for party success in the county in August, and beyond a doubt Mr. Williams is the next Clerk of our Superior Court. He will make a good one.

COL. JOHN B. HUSSEY, Congressional Librarian at Washington is in the city on his return from Washington, and will to-day leave for the West. An old friend, he will visit Catawba Springs on the occasion of the Press Convention, after which he will go up to Waycross, in Haywood, where his family is spending the summer. Mr. Hussey looks well after his eight months labor at the National Capital, and a brilliant writer, he ought to be put in the harness for the campaign. He will return to Washington on the re-assembling of Congress in December.

The example of Dr. J. C. Newland in the County Convention of Caldwell, on Saturday last, as presented by a News correspondent, is well worth imitating in the times of much political aspiration. Dr. Newland could have had the nomination had he persisted in the course of a fractional vote cast for him, but as there was some question about it, he positively declined to have the result declared in his favor unless upon the undoubted opinion of the convention that he was entitled to it beyond all dispute. If all aspirants would but imitate his example there would be nothing but perpetual harmony in the ranks of the Democracy; if every one would yield himself to the sentiment and wishes of the majority, and not attempt to combat public opinion, his popularity and future promotion would be assured then and there, and for all time.

Railroads.

Much prominence is given to railroad enterprises in various portions of the State, in this paper. The people of the Western counties are alive to the subject, and the energy and intelligence displayed will accomplish the work upon which they have set out.

The narrow gauge is the thing for the mountain country, and too much attention cannot be given, or too great information acquired in this direction. These roads are found to possess the fullest capacity for all the public wants; they are many times cheaper to build, and cost a great deal less to operate. Formerly prejudiced to this class of railroad is dying out, as the people begin to have information as to what they really are, and for this country they are undoubtedly the railroads of the future.

North Carolina must have development. There is no talent too great, no man too exalted, no energy and no intelligence above the work of developing and shoveling along in the march of progress this grand old State, destined to grow greater in the hands of the present generation of live, active men. The convict labor of the State is being utilized on the various lines of road under construction, and when the tide of prosperity shall have again set in there will be found employment and remuneration for all the idle labor of the State; for the era of North Carolina progress and railroad building will not be confined to any period of years, but she is to go forward for all time.

Many more years will not elapse before the mountains of all Western North Carolina will be penetrated by these narrow gauge railroads. They will extend to the East, and one need not be surprised to find them at no very distant day running into Raleigh.

Despite the pressure of the times, there never was a period of such enterprise and determination on the part of the people in the history of this State. The reverses of which all complain but serve to bring out the energies and industries of the people. And there never was a time when North Carolina was inhabited by such a people as that to-day. There is a magnificent present and a grand future for the old State, and in her behalf, and to that end, let every soul go to the wheel and stay there.

Seventh Congressional District. The name of R. F. Armfield will be read in the Congressional ticket of the News this morning with pleasure throughout North Carolina.

His nomination at Wilkesboro on Tuesday by a vote, on first ballot nearly unanimous, was not alone a compliment to him, but to solid North Carolina worth. A finer or better man than the State has never produced; and no other State as for that matter. He will make his mark in Congress; for he has long stood at the head of the bar and been accounted as among the ablest men of Western North Carolina, and in the selection of a new man, the people of the Seventh District will put him with Major Robbins with regret. He has been faithful and untiring and served his constituents well. He should not and will not view this nomination of Colonel Armfield as injurious to himself. In expressing their preference for another they in no manner reflect on him. The people choose to change their public servants, and no one has cause to complain, if, in so changing, they secure another as able and trustworthy; and this is undoubtedly done in the selection of Lieutenant Colonel Armfield.

All public men would do well to learn the lesson of "let go" whenever public sentiment shall manifest itself as in favor of a change. And the man who writes the most gracefully in obedience to the public wish, restrains the greatest popularity, and soonest comes to the front again. Every public man would do well to think of this.

In congratulating the people of the seventh district on the nomination of Lieutenant Governor Armfield for Congress, the News does not deem it necessary to introduce them their candidate, for they know him full well. With the people of North Carolina he enjoys a State reputation; and to formally introduce him would be but to argue him unknown. To any one who does not know Armfield, it is only necessary to say he is all that the perfect North Carolina gentleman and statesman should be.

CEBE Loge and Tim. All out of office. What an era of reform is on which the world has fallen? Upon what meat will this trio of Cesars now feed to keep fat? But then the County Republican Convention meets on Saturday. The race for Congress is also open in this district.
